Your child has been referred for a comprehensive Pediatric Neuropsychology evaluation with Dr. Shelley Heaton at Psychology Clinic located at UF Health & Shands Hospital. The UF Healthcare system provides important training experiences developing clinicians and Dr. Heaton closely supervises doctoral students and interns assisting with these assessments. Dr. Heaton’s clinic provides specialized testing to children who have developmental or academic problems, and/or medical problems that impact development and learning. The evaluation involves one-on-one testing with your child to evaluate their intellectual, memory, attention, language, motor, emotional, and academic abilities. Results help in planning for your child’s special needs at school or at home. The evaluation is very comprehensive and the appointment procedures will include discussions about the questions and difficulties that your child and family may be facing, including cognitive changes or health problems, and your own view of what might be helpful. As such, it is essential to have the child’s primary caregiver (e.g., parent) present for the evaluation.

Your child’s neuropsychological evaluation is very comprehensive and thus requires much of the day to complete. Your child will be completing tests with the clinician that assesses their cognitive skills in a variety of areas – you can tell your child that they will be “playing thinking games and solving puzzles, and may do some school work.” Your child will earn stickers throughout the evaluation day and a prize at the conclusion of the day for trying their best on the ‘games’. While your child is completing their testing in our evaluation room, you will be asked to complete questionnaires about your child’s current behaviors and skills. One hour of the day is set aside for you (as the primary caregiver) to provide more information about your child’s background and any specific concerns you have about their current functioning. In most cases, the evaluation appointment takes a full day and will start at 9am. Although some evaluations take less time than others, please make arrangements for you and your child remain at our clinic until 5:00pm in the event that the full day is required to complete the evaluation. For evaluations that extend into the afternoon hours, you and your child will be provided with a short break for lunch (please bring lunch money for use in our hospital food court or bring a bagged lunch).

Enclosed are forms for you to complete prior to your child’s appointment – please bring the completed forms to the appointment. If you have any school or medical records, medication information (types and doses), or reports from prior neuropsychological or psycho-educational evaluations, please bring them to your child’s appointment.

Should you need to cancel or reschedule, please contact us a minimum of two days before your child’s scheduled appointment so we may offer the appointment slot to another family eager to get in. If you have any questions, please contact us at (352) 265-0294. Dr. Heaton’s Pediatric Neuropsychology is located in the UF Health & Shands Hospital Psychology Clinic located on the Ground Floor of the main hospital. Please see enclosed map for directions.

We look forward to meeting you and your child at the upcoming appointment!

Informational Handout

The Psychology Clinic in Shands Hospital at the University of Florida provides assessment and treatment services for children, adolescents, adults, older adults, couples, and families. Our clinic provides services for emotional problems and those with a range of medical illnesses. Licensed and board certified faculty psychologists are responsible for all services in our clinic. Like Shands Hospital and the University of Florida Clinics, the psychology clinic is a training site. Therefore, trainees are likely to be involved in your care. In all cases, these trainees work under the direction of a faculty member. This may involve the faculty member watching the trainee through a one-way mirror or taped recording. Our trainees are bound by the same ethical and legal standards as our licensed psychologists. Please discuss with your provider any questions or concerns you might have about this or any issue related to our clinic.

Hours of Operation
The Psychology Clinic schedules patient appointments between 8AM-5PM Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Appointments are scheduled between the hours of 8AM – 7PM on Tuesday’s.

What to Expect
The Licensed Psychologist and trainee assigned to you work as a team. Your team will likely start with an assessment. This assessment gathers information to answer questions about your particular case. This information is also helpful in planning effective treatment if needed. Your team conducts this assessment through an interview with you and/or family and friends. In addition, testing may be appropriate. This may include paper and pencil testing of your thinking and learning abilities, memory, emotions and/or behaviors. You should be sure and understand the purpose (purposes) of this testing by talking with either the licensed psychologist or trainee. In all cases, all procedures will be explained to you. This evaluation may take from 2-8 hours.

If you have any concerns about your assessment or treatment, you should discuss them with the supervising licensed psychologist or trainee. As we mentioned earlier, this is a training clinic and you may be observed during your assessment or treatment. If your psychologist or trainee wishes to tape record your assessment or treatment for use in supervision of your care, they will ask you to sign a separate form. This form grants them permission for taping before it occurs. You also may be offered the opportunity to participate in a research study. Participation in our research is voluntary. If you agree to participate, you will be informed about the particular study and will be asked to sign a separate permission form.
